

Meet one of our ringers

Charter member Kay Carlson has been a musician since 1st grade, so hand bells were a natural addition to her talents.

And then came the surprise: "I never dreamed how challenging and fun it would be," she shared. An enthusiastic evangelist, Kay reminds others she's proof ringing hand bells can be learned at any age! But why is Kay's motto also "I ink, therefore I stamp?" Inquiring minds will find answers at bellsofthebluffs.org.

Construction zone

On November 12, we added demo construction (pun intended) to our experiences! We received a generous gift of an audio recording session. We're creating a demo CD that we'll share with folks interested in partnering with us for a concert.

Igniting Passion for Handbells

We made history on November 19! Well, we and a few others broke the Guinness record for largest handbell ensemble. 664 musicians rang for a once-in-a-lifetime performance at the Mall of America that helped the Salvation Army start its Red Kettle season.

It's our favorite time of year

Join us for one or more of these performances! See details to the right. You'll hear favorites as well as inspiring holiday music at each one. "We Wish You Christmas" is our third collaboration with the Red Wing Singers. And we're not just in Red Wing anymore! After the Hastings concert, you can try your hand at bell ringing. Then in River Falls, Wisconsin, we'll add Christmas themes from around the world.
